

Paul Bubbosh
Manager, National Idle Reduction Program
U.S. Environmental Protection Agency

Currently, Paul Bubbosh manages EPA's National Idle Reduction Program encompassing emissions testing, air quality emission reduction credits, demonstration projects, grants and contracts, and overall outreach and communications. Prior to his work in the idling program, Paul worked in EPA's Office of Air and Radiation as a Special Assistant to the Assistant Administrator, and he has worked in EPA's Offices of Enforcement and Compliance Assistance and the Office of Radiation and Indoor Air. He has 10 years of experience with EPA.

He received his law degree from Vermont Law School in 1991.