

United States Coast Guard (USCG)

Mission: The USCG mission is to safeguard the Nation's maritime interests in the heartland, in the ports, the sea, and around the globe. For over two centuries, the U.S. Coast Guard has protected the maritime economy and the environment, defended our maritime borders, and saved people in peril. This history has forged their purpose as America's Maritime Guardian – Always Ready for all hazards and all threats.

Cyber Snapshot: USCG protects against, counters, and enhances resiliency to electromagnetic threats to the USCG and maritime interests of the U.S. through the deployment of innovative cyber capabilities and cybersecurity intelligence sharing with port partners and front-line USCG operators.

USCG protects against, counters, and enhances resiliency to electromagnetic threats to the Coast Guard and maritime interests of the U.S. through the deployment of innovative cyber USCG prefers student applicants who have participated in previous cybersecurity research or who possess technical writing skills.